Easy Life In Africa. Natives of certain districts in Africa when there is no active work for them to do, or at least when there is no compulsion to do it. Capt. C. H. Stigand in his book "Hunting the Elephant in Africa," states a belief that the native is capable of assuming a state in which the mind is absolutely detached and not working, and when in such a state he is only recalled by when there is no active work for them a start to his present surroundings: The life of the head man of a village

Mexico's Mineral Output.

It is a fact, though not so widely known, that Mexico is the world's greatest producer of silver, says the Engineering Magazine. Its output in 1911 was 73,638,440 fine ounces, and in 1912, 775,500,900 fine ounces, the de-crease indicating the state of political unrest and the native preference for fighting rather than working. In copper production Mexico ranks second, and is preceded only by the United States. In 1911 the copper output was 136,430,331 pounds, and in 1912, 158,-691,695 pounds.

The Republic takes fifth place in output of gold, and is preceded by the Transvaal, United States Australia and Russia in the order named. The production in 1911 was 24,880,100 fine ounces, and- in 1912.- 22,500,000- fine ounces. The copper production in-creased in spite of the revolutionary scrivity, but this apparent anomaly is explained by the fact that the great-est copper-producing properties are in the northern part of the country near the United States border, where active interference was not great, the mines being large enough to protect themselves against ordinary imposition. The precious metal mines, on the ontrary, are scattered widely through he whole country, and are often small
